

When copper is deposited at the cathode (negatively charged electrode) during electrolysis the reaction occurring is