

Each covalent bond has two electrons, one donated by each atom in the bond.