

- 1 Solid sodium chloride conducts electricity because electrons in it are free to move through the structure.
- 2 Molten sodium chloride conducts electricity because ions become free to move.

Which of these statements is correct?