

Copper wires can be used as electrical conductors.

This is possible because