

In terms of electrons, what happens to the copper ions at the cathode during the purification of copper?