

Which of the following is the correct physical state of halogens at room temperature?