

Copper wires conduct electricity. This is possible because