

High pressure favours the production of  $\text{SO}_3$  in the contact process. Why is high pressure not used in industry?