

All three reactions have the same concentration of reactants.
Which reaction is happening at the highest temperature?