

Low temperature favours production of ammonia in Haber's process. Why is 400°C used industrially?