

High pressure favours production of ammonia. In industry the reaction is carried out at 250 atm pressure.

Why is 450 atm pressure not used in industry?