

A gas is insoluble in water and has a low density.

Which method can be used to collect the gas?