

The reactivity of the halogen is described below

Chlorine > bromine > iodine .

More reactive

Least reactive

Using the electronic configurations of chlorine and bromine, explain why the halogens become less reactive as the atomic number increases.