If a reaction in exothermic in one direction it is endothermic in the reverse direction with the same amount of energy transferred.